HOW CAN I ORDER PARTS FROM UNISOURCE?

Unisource products can be purchased on our website, via email, or through one of our sales representatives.

WHEN WILL MY ORDER SHIP?

Acknowledgements will be emailed and include a ship date. Unisource's goal will always be to try to ship on the specified date. Orders placed with products in stock will generally ship in 1-2 business days. However, orders including custom paint or work surfaces will ship in about 2 weeks. Please see page 86 to view approximate transit time from our location. Unisource will not be liable for any shipping charges or damages due to late shipment.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN HERMAN MILLER AO1 AND AO2 SYSTEMS?

There are not many differences between AO1 and AO2 systems. However, the biggest difference is that AO2 contains a 5" raceway base while AO1 does not.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ACTUAL AND NOMINAL MEASUREMENTS?

Actual measurements are the actual size of the part. The nominal measurements are the size of the panel or work surface that the part will be attaching to.

Example: The actual measurement of the 24" C-Leg with Glides is 22". However, the nominal measurement is 24". This means that the 22" C-Leg will fit a work surface that measures at least 24" deep.
